HAAGER AND TYSON'S BOOBS

If there was any doubt about the success of the local Democratic ticket in the coming November election that doubt was dispelled by the magnificent crowd that was present at the opening rally in Hopkins Theater Wednesday night, the attendance being the largest in the history of local campaigns, about 3,000 people being crowded in the theater and over that number being on the outside at an overflow meeting, many returning home on account of not being able to get near either the outside or inside speakers. Stirring and splendid addresses were made by Lieut. Gov. McDermott, Judge Henry S. Barker, Gen. W. B. Haldeman, Mayor W. O. Head, Judge Samuel Greene and Dr. John H. Buschmeyer on the inside, and Joseph Huffaker, Sam Robertson, Charles Milliken, Will O'Connor and others on the outside. Enthusiasm was rampant and many are predicting a regular landslide for the entire ticket on election day.

The feature of the evening was the expose of the aggregation comprising the Progressive ticket by Dr. Buschmeyer, and who, as charged in these columns before, were hiding their weaknesses behind the folds of the Herald, which has been preaching civic reform and neglecting to give the public a line on their proposed saviors of the people. Dr. Buschmeyer said in part, speaking of the comparison of the Democratic and Progressive tickets:

Against Gen. John B. Castleman, Louis Seebach and D. F. Murphy, Democratic nominees for the Park Board, the Axton-Vance machine has put up Phil Laib, an avowed prohibitionist, and Lee Bernheim, a whisky distiller.

For the General Council they have nominated Benjamin Hirsch, a blender of the Bernheim distillery, and Theodore Diehl, a beer driver for the Schlitz Brewing Company, who distributes beer throughout the red-light district. And who is coupled with them as a running mate for the Council? None other than our old friend, Charles B. Nordeman, the General Secretary of the Anti-Saloon League. Here is a letterhead of the league and the city directory which bear out my statements. Think of the spectacle of an Anti-Saloon Leaguer, a distillery blender and a beer wagon driver occupying adjoining desks in the Council and shouting in chorus for reform.

For the Legislature they have nominated E. W. Elliott, a prohibitionist preacher, and Edward Volz, a bartender in Herman Ohmann's saloon. What a sight it would be for the good people from the rural districts of Kentucky to see these two legislators from Louisville strolling arm in arm through the State Capitol at Frankfort, Elliott carrying a Bible and Volz carrying a bottle.

For County Clerk Charlie Hess was the choice of the Axton-Vance machine. This is the same Hess who, you remember, got into such a row while in Mayor Grinstead's Board of Aldermen in regard to a diamond ring which Contractor Lee Figg gave him. The Democratic nominee for County Clerk is P. S. Ray. Which is the product of a "machine" and which the choice of the people?

For Magistrate we find on the Axton-Vance ticket Charles K. Jackson, a policeman who was discharged for drinking and loitering in a barroom, who is now a janitor at one of Axton's headquarters.

For the Legislature they have nominated Dr. Sebastian, whom Axton choked and threw on a bed in a fight over who disclosed the secret "anti-negro" rule of the Axton party.

Going a little further compare Will Holley, Democratic nominee for Police Court Clerk, with Albert Eisenmenger, the Axton-Vance nominee.

Compare Andrew M. Sea, the well known Confederate veteran and nominee for City Tax Receiver, with G. A. Miller, the Axton-Vance nominee.

Compare William H. Meffert, Democratic nominee for City Auditor, with A. H. Remond, the Axton-Vance ticket for the same office.

Think of comparing Judge Boldrick with that Axton-Vance leader, an aspirant for the Police Court bench, William Holbourn.

Compare Adolph Schmitt for City Treasurer with Will Peil.

And last, but not least, compare Samuel W. Greene, Democratic nominee for County Judge, with Matt Holt, who has now made peace with Axton, and the lion and the lamb now lie down together.

Tell me which is the machine ticket? The Democratic ticket of Meffert and Greene, of Boldrick, Sea and Jim Camp, chosen by 16,000 voters participating at the Democratic primary, or the slate made up of Hess and Axton, Steffey and Volz and Diehl, in a little room lighted with a dark lantern, presided over by Burton Vance and "Bud" Ross, and guarded by ex-policemen Andy Miller, Sam Owens, "Mart" Donohue and "Bill" Smoot?

Will you vote to allow such instruments as these to control the city government of Louisville?

Who are the men back of Mr. Axton? Who are running his organization? I propose to tell you some of the most notorious of them now. Here are other men whom Burton Vance says "put principle before office." Here are his "instruments" of reform! Do you think they would be working for Axton and Vance unless they had been promised "office" in return for "principle?"

In the First ward there is Dr. Hugh McCullough, one time Coroner. He wanted to be Coroner again, but because Dr. Ellis Duncan got the Democratic nomination, Dr. McCullough has joined the Axton-Vance machine and is now managing their campaign in the First ward. He expects to be Health Officer in place of Dr. W. Ed Grant, if Axton should ever be Mayor. Imagine the reforms Dr. McCullough would inaugurate in the Health Office!

There are ex-policemen "Dick" Murray, Andy Miller and Sam Owens, Mel LaPaille, Phil Boro, Jim Gorley, Martin Donohue and Bill Smoot. They are working night and day for Mr. Axton, and make his headquarters their headquarters.

Sam Owens is slated for Chief of Police and Donohue for Chief of Detectives and Andy Miller for Police Captain. The others expect to be made Captains or Lieutenants of Police at the hands of Mr. Axton. Dr. Buschmeyer might have added that the above list of supporters, who are being led around by the nose in the custody of Jake Haager and Filmore Tyson, would do well to watch their leaders, who at any moment may give them the double-cross as they have done to the two attempted to sacrifice Grinstead and his followers on the eve of that election and who are now laughing in their sleeves at the "boobs" who are following them blindly and who may be left in the lurch whenever Messrs. Haager and Tyson see an opportunity to benefit themselves.

GREAT EDITOR CALLED.

Patrick Ford, editor of the New York Irish World, died Tuesday at his home in Brooklyn. For a generation he had supported with speech and pen Irish opposition to English rule, organizing in 1879, and the few years following, some 2,500 branches of the Land League, in the Treasury of which Ireland forwarded half a million dollars through his paper. Patrick Ford was born in Ireland in 1837 and emigrated nine years later to America, entering journalism in Boston in 1855. He served in the civil war, afterward settling in Charleston, S. C., where he founded the Charleston Gazette. Several years later he is quoted the first copy of the Irish World. He was a close friend of James G. Blaine, whom he supported for the Presidency. Editor Ford had established a great newspaper, and was honored and respected for his honor and integrity. His death leaves a void in Irish-American journalism that will be long felt.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS.

At the meeting of Division 4, A. O. H., Monday evening in Bertrand Hall a report on the recent organization of the social club, which is intended for the benefit of the younger members of the division primarily, was made by L. J. Meany and James McTigue, they announcing that their first affair would be a dance at Utopian Hall on Wednesday evening, October 8, and extending an invitation to all local members to be present. County President W. J. Connolly, who was present, congratulated the division on its enterprise and predicted that encouragement of the social club would tend to advancement of the order. The attendance and financial receipts were the largest of the year. President John Hennessy stated that he and Vice President Thomas Lynch had collected a number of applicants for the next meeting.

DOYLE-DOLAN.

Their many friends will be interested to know that the date for the marriage of Miss Mary Doyle and John Dolan, widely known and popular young people, has been set for Tuesday morning, October 14. The ceremony will take place in St. Augustine's church, Jeffersonville, the Rev. John O'Connell uniting the happy couple and celebrating the nuptial mass. Miss Margaret Kennedy, of Jeffersonville, and John Finn, of Jeffersontown, will be the attendants. A wedding breakfast at the groom's home will follow the church ceremony, after which the couple will leave on a wedding trip to the North and West.

JEFFERSONVILLE.

Many relatives and friends were present early Wednesday morning at St. Augustine's church in Jeffersonville to witness the marriage of Frank A. White and Miss Emma Brennan, popular young people of Howard Park. Rev. John O'Connell was the celebrant of the nuptial mass and performed the marriage ceremony. Following a sumptuous wedding breakfast the happy couple departed for New York on their bridal trip. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. White, and the bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Brennan.

EX-PRIEST CROWLEY.

Junior Order Arranging to Bring Notorious Disturber to Louisville
in Aid of the Progressive Campaign.

Axton Followers Paving Way For a Repetition of the Disgraceful and Infamous Bloody Monday.

SKETCH OF THE LATEST JUDAS ISCARIOT.

The local dark lantern society, the Junior Order of United American Mechanics, which comprises all the leaders and 90 per cent. of the candidates on the Progressive ticket, have been endeavoring to bring ex-Priest Crowley here to lecture, principally as an aid to Axton and the Bull Moose ticket, it being rumored that W. W. Davies, one of the leaders, has been absent from the city for the purpose of negotiating with Crowley. The Junior Order, which is Wood Axton's and the Progressive ticket's advance agent, is attempting to secure Macaulay's Theater for the lecture, thereby hoping to arouse religious prejudice against Catholics. On account of the storm of indignation and protest from all fair-minded citizens this past week, the Louisville Herald attempted to pave the way for these ill-fated mobs and disorder to cancel the lecture, although the Herald editor and other Progressive leaders have been urging the above class of fanatics to renewed hatred against Catholics for the sole purpose of promoting Axton's hopeless campaign for Mayor. If Axton was the caliber of man, as claimed by his organ, he would issue a statement denouncing the attempts of his followers to promote another Bloody Monday.

This ex-Priest Crowley has been denied a hall or theater in many cities because of his vile, abusive lectures, and in several towns where he was permitted to speak his incendiary remarks were the cause of riots, in New Lexington, Ohio, the militia being called out to quell the disturbances. In every instance the Junior Order of United American Mechanics has promoted the Crowley lectures, and only recently a committee from this order was turned down by the Protestant city officials at Charlotte, N. C., after an attempt had been made to secure a public building under the guise of what the Juniors termed was an educational lecture. Here they will probably designate this traveling disturber's subject as an Axton lecture and distribute Bull Moose literature and Axton pictures, as is now done at their meetings. A word as to Crowley, whom they are endeavoring to inflict on the citizens of Louisville:

The saddest of all things is the sight of a fallen priest—a priest who has stumbled from the altar into the gutter. But when the fallen one remains in the gutter and slings mud at the church that educated him, then one instinctively thinks of Judas selling his Master for money. Poor fallen Crowley! He has gone the limit and hooked himself to the infamous Menace, thus bringing down upon himself the scorn of all self-respecting Americans, irrespective of creed affiliation. Crowley is after the coin and as his dastardly attempt at blackmailing failed him he now turns to the polecat of the American press. We are indebted to Father Nell, of Indiana, for the following pen-picture of the fallen priest:

TRINITY'S MEETING.

Trinity Council, Y. M. I., had a largely attended meeting Monday evening, at which a resolution was passed denouncing the present day methods and such dances as the "tango," "lame duck," "turkey trot" and others of similar character. In addition to regular routine work several applications were received. The Membership Committee announced that they hoped to have a large class for the coming joint initiation, for which Trinity recently appointed a committee to confer with Mackin and Unity. Andrew Kieffer, who has been ill in St. Louis, sent a communication stating that he had fully recovered, thereby leaving only one member on the sick list. The Literary Committee informed the council that a programme was being arranged for the fall meetings, which would include a number of lectures and debates. The Euchre Committee reported that they were making good progress for the euchre and lotto party to take place early in November.

GONE TO REST.

Mrs. Mary Dillon, an aged and highly esteemed woman, widow of Col. Patrick Dillon, a former City Marshal of Louisville, and mother of former Fire Chief Ben Dillon, who was killed in an accident while en route to a fire nearly four years ago, succumbed Monday evening at her home, 2115 Cherokee parkway, following an illness of two weeks. She was a native of Louisville and was formerly Miss Mary Keel. She is survived by a son, Patrick Dillon; a daughter, Miss Mamie Dillon, and four grandchildren. The funeral was

ASHLAND.

The Rev. Father Goessin, pastor of the Holy Family church at Ashland, is having that edifice renovated and beautified. About $6,000 will be expended on the work.

of this. He offers $5,000 to any one who will prove that he is not a priest "in good standing of the Archdiocese of Chicago." This is "baby" play, for:

First—Crowley has not the $5,000.

Second—Crowley never was received into the diocese of Chicago.

Third—Need no excommunication after he attempted to marry; even a lay person who marries out of the church is excommunicated by his very act.

Crowley was formally excommunicated and all Chicago was notified about it, but the excommunication was lifted by Cardinal Martinelli, when it was believed he would go West and desist from his scandal-giving crusade. For him to state that he is still a priest in good standing of the Archdiocese of Chicago, because he did not leave the diocese under excommunication, is ridiculous. Crowley is doing the "dirty work" now, only because he can not make a living in an honorable way. Had he a living, he would be behaving himself now, as the following incident will show:

On October 7, 1911, he called on Bishop Muldoon at Rockford, under the assumed name of Mr. Brown. In this interview he offered to sell plates and manuscripts of his old book and the manuscripts of a book which he threatened to publish reflecting on the church and the ministers of the church, unless a money consideration would be given him. He said that his proposal was a "cold blooded proposition," that he needed the money—"it would put him on Easy street," as he expressed it. In his interview he vehemently denounced his former friends and co-conspirators as "scoundrels, millionaires, rascals, liars and fools," who had induced him to do his mean acts and had now deserted him. He said that one object he had in publishing the new volume was to show up his former friends in their true light—the other was to obtain money from the publication. Unknown to Crowley, there was a witness to his conversation and proposition, and this witness, the Rev. J. J. Flanagan, herewith solemnly makes testimony as to the blackmail:

I, J. J. Flanagan, a Catholic priest of the diocese of Rockford, do solemnly testify that on October 7, 1911, I saw J. J. Crowley and heard him make a proposition to Right Rev. Bishop Muldoon. The proposition was to the effect that he, J. J. Crowley, for a consideration of $50,000, would turn over to Bishop Muldoon, and refrain from publishing certain plates and manuscripts, the purpose of publishing which was to defame the Roman Catholic church and the ministers thereof. I also heard the Bishop's rejection of J. J. Crowley's offer. I heard the Bishop tell Crowley that he was a blackmailer and an extortioner and that he would not give five cents for all the rubbish which J. J. Crowley could collect in a thousand years. (Signed) J. J. Flanagan.

PRIEST'S JUBILEE.

The Very Rev. Dr. Gregory Bechtold, D. D., O. S. B., rector of St. Meinrad's Ecclesiastical Seminary at St. Meinrad, Ind., and one of the most learned priests in this part of the country, on Monday celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood. In keeping with his wishes, the celebration was rather a spiritual and family affair than a great festivity. The monastery will celebrate Dr. Gregory's silver jubilee October 15, as well as those of the Rev. Dominic Parthel, O. S. B., rector of the Preparatory College, and the Rev. Vincent Wagner, O. S. B., professor of music and organist at the Abbey. Father Dominic was ordained November 25, and Father Vincent September 29, 1888.

OCTOBER WEDDING.

Miss Loretta Maloney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Maloney, who has been spending the summer with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Maloney, of Walbridge, N. J., has returned home to Covington, to prepare for her marriage to Charles A. Glidde, assistant manager of the Lorillard Tobacco Company, Jersey City, N. J. The wedding will be solemnized at St. Mary's Cathedral in October.

CHIEF JUSTICE CULLEN.

The impeachment trial at Albany will direct the attention of the people of the State to Judge Cullen, its presiding judge. During a long and useful life he has rendered conspicuous service to the nation as a gallant officer and to the State as a judge of long service. Modest and unassuming in demeanor, deeply learned in the law, courteous to listen but decisive to rule when counsel have presented their views, he is respected and beloved by the entire bar of the State. Happily an opportunity is now afforded Judge Cullen to render another great public service just on the eve of his retirement. It is fortunate that the State can command the service of such a man in so great a matter.

KNIGHTHOOD FOR NEBRASKA.

The Omaha True Voice was first to give out the news that John P. Sutton, of Lincoln, Neb., had been appointed by the Pope a Knight of the Order of St. Gregory the Great. The honor is one of the highest conferred by the Pope upon a layman and is given in recognition of notable services rendered to the church. An appropriate decoration goes with the appointment consisting of a large double-pointed golden star, suspended by a ribbon and to be worn on the breast. It is expected that this decoration will be brought to Lincoln by Bishop Thelen on his return from Rome and that it will be conferred at a public function soon afterward. Mr. Sutton, who is sixty-eight years old, has been a resident of Lincoln for many years. He saw service in the regular army operating against the Indians in the West in the late sixties. On his retirement from the army he entered business. He was for several years National Secretary of the Irish Land League in America, when the late John Fitzgerald, of Lincoln, was President. Mr. Sutton has now the honor of being the only Knight of St. Gregory in Nebraska. The late Count Creighton held that honor, but since his death it has not been held by any laymen in Nebraska.

RALLIES PLANNED.

Three hundred representatives of the various Irish societies in the five boroughs of New York, meeting in the hall of the United Irish League, on Friday night, completed arrangements for a home rule night October 2, at Carnegie Music Hall. This will be the opening gun of what is hoped to be the final campaign of the Irish in America in behalf of the Irish Parliamentary party. Similar demonstrations are planned to be held this fall and winter under the auspices of the league in every large city. Michael E. Corbely, President of Municipal Council of the United Irish League, was Chairman. It was announced that Congressman James M. Graham, of Illinois, and John Purroy Mitchel, Collector of the Port, will be two of three or four speakers on that occasion. Lieut. Gov. Glynn has informed Patrick Egan, former Minister to Chile, that he will make an effort to attend.

IRISH PATRIOT DYING.

O'Donovan Rossa, the Fenian leader, long exiled from Ireland, who was elected to the House of Commons while in prison under a life sentence for "treason-felony," is at St. Vincent's Hospital, West New Brighton, Staten Island, and very ill. He is eighty-two years old. Mr. Rossa had been ill and confined to his bed for three years when he was taken to the hospital about three weeks ago. His wife had become too ill to care for him. An effort is to be made to persuade her to let the aged Irishman be transferred to St. Vincent's Hospital in Manhattan. The St. Vincent's institution will not keep patients incurably ill, as Rossa is said to be. About a year ago Justices Goff and Cohalan, of the Supreme Court, raised $800 among New York Judges and lawyers for the old man's aid, and some hundreds more have since been collected by public subscription.

MACKIN COUNCIL.

There was a marked increase in the attendance at the meeting of Mackin Council this week, which was full of interest. Besides the usual routine a committee was appointed to confer with Trinity and Unity on this arrangement for the joint initiation to take place in the near future. Two teams were named to conduct a membership contest, which it is hoped will secure another hundred members. Announcement was made of the Social Club semi-monthly reception dances, an invitation being extended the members and their friends to attend the first on Thursday night.

K. O. C. IN PARADE.

The members of the local council, Knights of Columbus, have been instructed to meet at the club house next Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock and be prepared to take part in the Perry Centennial parade, each member being requested to wear dark clothes and carry a small American flag on the lapel of the coat, this to be furnished at the hall. Grand Knight P. H. Callahan urges every member to be present without fail and assist in adding glory to the celebration.

RETURNS TO COLLEGE.

Pierce Dixon, son of Patrick Dixon and a popular Jeffersonville boy, left this week for St. Meinrad, where he has completed six years of study for the priesthood. Young Dixon, who is the only student for the priesthood from Jeffersonville, always spends his vacation with his parents. It will require five more years to complete his course, and his many friends pray that they may be spared to assist at his first mass.

HOME NEXT WEEK.

Col. John H. Whallen, who has been abroad for two months and has been spending the past week in New York, is expected to arrive in Louisville within the next few days.

NOT YET

Has Any Decision Been Reached
Upon Lord Loreburn's Proposal.

Nationalist and Liberals Standing Firm For Their Home Rule Bill.

Carson and His Ulster Followers Confess Their Acts Unlawful.

PROPOSAL MEETS WITH DISSENT

It is a curious fact, cables T. P. C'Connor, that side by side with the fierce opposition to home rule for Ireland which is going on at this moment there is running a stream of tendency to a solution of the difficulties of the British empire, which necessarily involves home rule for Ireland. Party loyalty though is so strong in the present House of Commons that Premier Asquith will probably be backed by his supporters in whatever line he takes, and they will not consent to embarrass him or to embarrass home rule for Ireland. Is it not a strange topsy-turvy phenomenon that Ireland today is the chief concern of the Liberals in England, Scotland and Wales; that this issue, which formerly weakened and divided and exiled from power for nearly a quarter of a century the Liberal party, should today be the iron clamp which keeps them together?

Reviewing the effects of Lord Loreburn's proposition another correspondent cables the following from London:

So far as outward appearances go the position of affairs in Ulster has not changed during the ten days that have elapsed since the appearance of the memorable letter of Lord Loreburn, the former Lord High Chancellor, in the Times, in which he suggested a conference of leading representatives of all parties interested in the Irish question, but as Sir Edward Carson, the leader of the Ulster Unionists, has said, the question can no longer stand as it did before the appearance of that letter. It is both natural and necessary that the preliminary stages of the discussion in which such issues are involved should tend to know whether or not the suggested conference will be held, for it is certain that no decision either for or against the holding of such a meeting has as yet been made.

Although the proposition is only natural, has evoked a storm of angry dissent from both Unionists and home rulers, it is nevertheless being seriously and dispassionately considered. No one, however, has as yet evolved a basis on which such a conference could meet with any likelihood of a successful issue to the deliberations. Sir Edward Carson and his Ulster men refuse to budge a jot from their determination to be "governed" only by an imperial party and an executive who will be responsible to it. The Irish Nationalists are equally firm in their adherence to the cry for a "separate nationality." Thus the obstacles to any "settlement by consent" are fatal.

On the other hand the sympathizers with Lord Loreburn's scheme profess to find some ground for hope. The Times is encouraged by what it calls "the new spirit" which Ireland has developed in the last twenty years as shown in the working of the local government act. Lord Grey, who is a stout home ruler, is in hopes that the conference will be held and that it will evolve a scheme of federalism which will cover the minima demanded by the Ulster Unionists and the Nationalists respectively, when all has been said and done no one seems to venture more than a somewhat feeble hope that a conference may be held and the still more feeble hope that it will be successful in attaining its object.

Meanwhile Sir Edward Carson and his followers in Ulster are going on with their plans without secrecy or subterfuge. Sir Edward openly confesses that he is proceeding against the law. He says "the drilling of the men is illegal, the volunteers themselves are illegal and the Government knows they are illegal but does not dare to interfere." The Daily Telegraph says that arrangements for the formation in Ulster by a council of five of a separate constitution are apparently far advanced and that an announcement to this effect may be made in a few days.

FATHER HOWLETT COMING.

Rev. W. J. Howlett, who for thirty-seven years has labored in Colorado, will leave next week for Loretto, Ky., where he will be chaplain at the mother house of the Sisters of Loretto. Father Howlett has been in Colorado since 1865. He was educated and ordained in Paris in 1876 for the Colorado diocese and labored there with Bishop Macchabeuf, being one of the pioneer priests who helped to establish the Catholic faith in the Rocky Mountains.

WELCOME.

Louisville is in gala attire and ready to welcome the thousands who are coming to the Perry centennial celebration. If any there are who have not yet had a vacation, they will find Louisville an ideal spot to spend the coming week. The attractions and pleasures offered will surpass any ever witnessed here and will be participated in by all the people.

KNOTT'S HYPOCRISY.

In reply to his attitude in the ex-Priest Crowley lecture, Editor
Dick Knott made an uncalculated attack on the Kentucky Irish American, comparing the policy of this paper to that of the Menace. We only desire to make one point in answer to that of the smug hypocrite who edits the columns of the Evening Post. While he is busy in his pretended defense of Catholics, answering card writers whose names
do not appear in the city directory, his partner and business manager of the Evening Post was present at the meeting of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics in their hall last Sunday afternoon when the question of bringing the apostate priest to Louisville was being discussed. "Nuf sed."

PATRICK FORD.

The Catholic press suffers a distinct loss in the death of Patrick Ford, the able and patriotic editor of the Irish World. His life was devoted to the people of his race and religion both in this country and the old land. Fearless and honest, Pat Ford was just to all, and the Irish people the world over will mourn his death and pray for the repose of his soul. Pity 'tis that he was not spared to see his life's hope realized and Ireland free. To those relatives who survive him, we extend our heartfelt sympathy in a loss that to us is next to personal.

IGNORE CROWLEY.

Jeremiah Crowley, the apostate
ex-priest, whose unsavory record appears in this issue, is reported coming to Louisville to deliver his infamous lecture on October 12.
As one of our exchanges says in referring to him, developments in various places throughout the country within the past month prove conclusively that the business of the ex-priest, the ex-nun, is played out.
The walls separating Catholics from their non-Catholic fellow citizens are falling, walls reared by ignorance and bigotry, and built upon by the apostate and the renegade. The sensible Protestant, living side by side with the Catholic, knows that the religion which makes of his neighbor a good citizen, an upright man, a faithful friend, could never inspire or tolerate the infamy ascribed to it by these unknown speakers or writers; while the reflecting mind will always regard with suspicion the denunciations of the friend turned foe.

When Crowley lectured at New Lexington, Ohio, he caused so much commotion that the Mayor deemed it necessary to call out the militia.
The lecturer received the benefit of the advertising, and ill-feeling was stirred up that will not abate for months. So much for that method of dealing with such disturbers.
But how different when Crowley visited Wheeling the week before.
There his reception was different and the results far more satisfactory.
The Board of Trade Auditorium had been rented for the lectures, which had been advertised as "educational and inspiring." Catholic societies then got busy. They knew how "educational and inspiring" the lectures would be. They approached the lessors of the Auditorium who, when the character of the lectures was explained to them, promptly canceled the engagement and returned the money paid in advance. Friends of the spouter were refused other halls and lecture rooms, including the Lutheran church. Finally the Mayor and Chief of Police informed him that they would promptly arrest him if he adopted the soapbox plan and raised a disturbance in the streets. He and his henchmen, considering almost exclusively of the riffraff of the city, were thereafter under close observation from the time he struck town till he departed, a blocked, beaten and disgusted
lecturer.

Of the two methods, here exemplified, of dealing with this sower of discord in hitherto peaceful communities, the reader can readily conclude that the second is the more effective. Should Crowley persist in appearing in Kentucky the Christian people should ignore him. This course will preserve the good feeling prevailing here and administer a frost to the bigots who are responsible for his coming.

A STEP NEARER.

And now the high church clergymen of the Protestant Episcopal denomination are considering making a petition to their Board of Bishops for the right to administer extreme unction to the dying, notes
Father Cotter in the Catholic Union and Times. When the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church meets next month in New York there may be granted legislation permitting the church to anoint the sick with oil. It is another revolution of the wheel which will eventually, let us hope, bring the seceders within the true fold which they unwisely left over four hundred years ago. We remember hearing a high church clergyman, a brilliant graduate of Cambridge, England, complain of the prejudice
of priests who, when visiting old, historic English churches while sightseeing through the country, did not genuflect before the altars.
"I always do so in a Roman Catholic church, because I believe truly in the Real Presence," said the English clergyman. We explained it was not disrespect that made Catholic priests not honor the "real presence" on a Protestant altar, but the possibility of paying idolatrous worship, adoring that which had not been consecrated by an ordained priest of the Holy Roman Catholic Church. But the courteous, pious Cambridge man found it difficult to accept the explanation, so confirmed was he in his own belief that the Episcopal church possesses the divinely-delegated right to ordain and consecrate.

CUMMINGS
 Overhauls Dishonest and Disreputable Exponents of Religious Bigotry.

Insane Ravings of Bogus Patriots Like Mad Waves of Ocean.

For Vast Number of Honest People Who Are Honestly Prejudiced.

HAS PITY FOR MENACE VICTIM

Catholics and non-Catholics have read with such interest the unanswerable DeWald letter of that fearless and able Pennsylvanian, Dr. Charles Cummings, of Williamsport, that we feel forced to print for them this week its concluding chapter, which follows:

We realize that Walker's Menace, Watson's Jeffersonian Magazine and similar publications are dishonest and disreputable exponents of religious bigotry, irresponsible disseminators of the vilest of religious slanders. Many advise that they should be ignored. That to notice them is but to advertise them. This has been the mistaken policy too long. We are forced to a realization that a vile slander, repeated over and over again without successful challenge and contradiction, ultimately and surely leaves its evil impression and poisonous contamination upon susceptible minds. Our special concern is not for the Catholic church. She needs no defense. The insane ravings of these bogus patriots affect her no more than do the mad waves of the ocean, the adamant rock of Gibraltar. These slanderous publications will take 10 per cent. of the harm done, and around this will build 90 per cent. of horrible lies, and publish the whole as a vile slander against people or matters Catholic. When traced to its fountain-head and proven false, it matters not with them, they keep right on publishing it. It is therefore, we repeat, not to them we address ourselves, but to the vast number of honest people who, because of misinformation, are honestly prejudiced.

And the St. Bartholomew massacre? Here, Mr. DeWald, is an ancient lie that will not die. This unfortunate occurrence has furnished the fuel for the fiery furnace of bigotry for more than 400 years. A morsel of slander that rolls most deliciously under the tongues of Walker, Watson, Sims & Co. The Catholic church was not responsible for that massacre. It was civil, not religious. A few years ago in one of our great States men elected by the great Republican party robbed the people of many millions of dollars. The Republican party of course was opposed to such a thing, and no reasonable man would accuse it of such a crime because those who claim membership in that party were the grafters. The massacre was the evil fruit of pent-up religious feeling. The Catholic church opposed it just as the Republican party opposed the pilfering of those grafters. Any Catholic who took part in that crime was a fanatic, and hence no doubt a Catholic only in name, and therefore one whom the church could not control. It is dishonest to hold the church responsible for that crime, and little short of damnable to charge that she ordered it.

I see the thought rising in your mind, Mr. DeWald, and you say to me: Dr. Cummings, I have from childhood held an entirely different opinion of the Catholic church. I have many times heard precisely the same charges that the Menace has made, and I have never until now heard them contradicted. I can readily believe this, Mr. DeWald. And further, I believe that there are at least 60,000,000 people in United States who from childhood, like you, have heard only the severest adverse criticism of the Catholic church. They have heard it slandered, vilified and lied about, but they were not to blame for not accepting these things as slander, vilifications and falsehoods, when they never saw a successful contradiction of their truth. Mr. DeWald, that has been too long the mistaken policy of those Catholics who have the ability and finesse to correct such abuse. They sat serene in their consciousness of right, paying no attention, deluded by the thought that such slanders could not be believed. It was exactly this same indifference to the abuse and slander hurled at the church, and permitted to continue unchallenged by those in authority, that so poisoned the minds as to arouse the mad passion of the "America for Americans," until it caused them to destroy Catholic life and property less than a hundred years ago. Just so have we seen this same indifference to the mad ravings of these modern Robespierres of the south of Europe. For forty years they permitted to go unchallenged these lying slanders against church and God, until a people, normally Christian, have grown raving mad, and have actually penalized their God, and exiled Him from the home of his inheritance. And this in cultured Europe. In this the dawn of the twentieth century. In the very land whose people hurled back the invading Moore, and where Christianity won its first great triumph over paganism.

And finally, Mr. DeWald, I repeat that I have no hope of changing the tactics of these "journalistic" reptiles of the American press" so long as they can find ignorance and prejudice to coin into gold. Having, however, dealt with snakes before, I fully realize that I can not change their stripes or prevent their vicious assaults. I can and will, however, extract their fangs, and thus neutralize the venom of their attack.

lack. This, Mr. DeWald, is exactly what I have done with your friend, the "rattler" from Missouri. The quarantine is still in force, plenty of disinfectant in store, and an abundance of antitoxin ready for immediate use. I hardly think, however, this Will of the Wisp from Aurora Borealis will come my way again.

I give you my positive assurance, Mr. DeWald, that I hold toward you no animosity whatever. I am truly sorry for you, as I look upon you as one of this villain's victims. God pity you if in your prejudice you will not forever exclude this Menace poison from your heart, your hand and especially your friends.

GLASSWARE.
 When washing glassware do not put it in hot water bottom first, as it is liable to crack from sudden expansion. Even delicate glass can be safely washed in hot water if slipped in edgewise.

HORRIBLE.
 Socialists Propagate Evil Which Ruins Nations and Degrades Marriage.

The Deception They Are Practicing On the Unemployed Comrades.

Not Being Done by a Chance Advertiser in Socialistic Organ.

THEY PRACTICE RACE SUICIDE

Some time ago Social Democracy in Germany issued the slogan: "No children for the present State." If the slogan remained a mere phrase—as so many Socialistic phrases do—one might pass it by without further comment, although it is an exhortation to race suicide, pure and simple. But the comrades are not content to permit it to remain a mere slogan. The Socialistic Frankische Volksfreund, appearing in Wuerzburg in Bavaria, recently published an advertisement offering unemployed comrades a "decent income" upon application to the Socialist Workingmen's Secretariate. Upon application Socialists were told that this "decent income" could be secured by selling instruments and remedies by which the number of births can be reduced. It will readily be realized that it requires a remarkable set of ethics to designate money so obtained as a "decent income," and to encourage race suicide in this manner. And this, mind you, is being done, not by a chance, independent advertiser in a Socialistic organ, but by the Socialistic Workingman's Secretariate, a Socialistic party office, in a party organ. The Secretariate directly advises and encourages the sale of these instruments and remedies.

This instance forms a parallel to the publication, by the chief Socialist party publication office at Munich, in Bavaria, of a book on the same subject, and the advertising of it in the Socialist Post published in the city named. But the German Socialists are not much more "liberal" in their views than are their American comrades. Only a few weeks since the Socialistic St. Louis Arbeiter Zeitung (issue of August 16) contained the following advice in the nature of a reply to an inquiry from a reader: "Mrs. L., S. 6. We have a book on sale on the subject: 'How Can I Guard Against Too Many Children?' In a healthy manner, written by an experienced practitioner. Only for adults and morally mature people of the working classes. Price twenty-five cents, thirty cents by mail. It is just about what you desire and is much cheaper than the other." In this manner Socialists in this country, as well as abroad, consciously and intentionally propagate this great evil which ruins nations and degrades marriage. C. B.

IN VAUDEVILLE.
 Patrick G. King, well known in amateur theatrical circles, has been given a role in a one-act farce on the Keith vaudeville circuit. Pat's friends here hope he has been given an Irish character part, as he uses that brogue freely, no matter whether in a Hebrew, German, negro or any other role.

FOREST FIRE LOSSES.
 With the middle of September the fire season on the national forests came practically to an end, with less damage than ever recorded. California, Arizona and New Mexico suffered most during the season. The area burned this year is about 60,000 acres, as against 250,000 acres in 1912 and 750,000 in 1911.

DESTRUCTIVE SUFFRAGETTES.
 English militant suffragettes set fire early Tuesday to Seaford House at Seaford, four miles northwest of Liverpool, causing $400,000 damage. The members of the "arson squad" left a quantity of suffragette literature strewn about the laws. The building was formerly used as a convent and was undergoing reconstruction at a cost of $130,000. It was to be turned into a hospital for invalids. The entire property is valued at $13,000,000.

LATEST IN STYLES.
 Persian effects will be seen on the new autumn gowns.
 Wash frocks are best for the little girl's first days of school.
 Wool broads are being used even for young girls' suits.
 Wide moire ribbon is being used for millinery trimmings and sashes.
 Inexpensive bead necklaces are much worn to complete the color scheme of a costume.
 The new silks are nothing short of splendid, with their interwoven gold threads and brilliant colors.
 Wool plush, a silk and wool fabric which is pliant, is admirable for tailored suits of the elaborate type.
 For a cloth dress it is often better to choose white satin or embroidered linen for the collar, rather than lace. Coarse darned net is also a good collar material.
 Cloth walking dresses of ratine and whipcord are made simply, depending on a long line of buttons or braiding for decorations. Such dresses have long sleeves invariably.

EDITOR'S SAVINGS.
 An editor who started about twenty years ago with only fifty-five cents is now worth $100,000. His accumulation of wealth is owing to his frugality, good habits, strict attention to business, and the fact that an uncle died and left him $99,999.—Editor and Publisher.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

Pennsylvania leads with juvenile divisions, New York being second. Kentucky has none.

Now that the cool weather has come there should be an increased attendance at meetings.

Division 20 of Pittsburgh will give a $50 diamond as first prize at its annual diamond euchar next month.

The Ladies' Auxiliary meets next Wednesday night. There will be some interesting reports and the officers look for a large attendance.

There are now eighty-nine organized juvenile divisions with applications pending for seventy-one chapters, with ninety-six more in prospect.

Indianapolis Hibernians will hold a county initiation October 19. This will be made an event of State-wide interest and there will be a very large class.

The Hibernians and Ladies' Auxiliary of Portland, Ore., have raised $10,000 for their new building on Russell street. Its erection will begin next week.

A proposition that will surprise the members of Division 1 will be submitted at the next meeting. Members are urged to remember this and be present.

Pueblo Hibernians had a very successful public meeting last Sunday. Rev. Father Burke and John McGowan, the best known Irish orators in Colorado, were the speakers.

Mrs. Mary Arthur, State President of the Indiana Ladies' Auxiliary, was given a happy surprise on the occasion of her birthday, when she was presented a beautiful silver spoon set.

Division 2 will meet next Thursday night at Thirteenth and Oak, and it is the duty of every member to attend. The business to be transacted will be important and interesting.

The opening of the new hall being erected by the Hibernians of Portland, Ore., will take place next St. Patrick's day, when it is planned to have the largest celebration in the annals of the city.

Permission has been granted for the organization of a Ladies' Auxiliary in the Cathedral parish of Pittsburgh. The County President is working hard for a membership of 2,000 before the end of the year.

The new division recently instituted at Lakeview, Ore., is in a thriving condition, and is conducting a lively campaign to liquidate the debt on the local church, having already contributed $1,500 for that purpose.

The Divisions of New Haven, Conn., are arranging for the largest class initiation ever held in the State. It is expected that the National, State and County officers and also members of the order who are in Congress will be present.

The National Hibernian says the coming fall, winter and spring will see the Ancient Order of Hibernians in America and the Ladies' Auxiliary gain thousands of new members and develop an interest in many communities that will attract to its ranks an element of citizenship not heretofore affiliated with the order. Let the Falls Cities get busy and take high place.

READY FOR ART WORK.

W. T. Meehan, for many years with Klauber and head of his art room work, has taken over the entire stock, fixtures, etc., of the Bachmann Art Company and will continue the business at 321 West Jefferson street, in the Tyler building. Mr. Meehan is fully prepared to do framing and hanging and arranging of pictures, cleaning and restoring paintings, replating mirrors and all kinds of gold gilding. His long experience with the Klaubers is a guarantee of efficiency and reliability. Mr. Meehan's work is in evidence in all parts of the city, and in business for himself he should be very successful.

LEAVES LARGE FAMILY.

Mrs. Mary C. Sullivan, beloved wife of B. O. Sullivan, a woman of many virtues and respected by all who knew her, passed to her eternal reward Monday night at her home, 329 South Broadway Park, Lexington. Mrs. Sullivan is survived by her husband and ten children, six boys and four girls. The sons are Messrs. Timothy and John, of Ludlow; William, of Birmingham railway, Alabama, connected with the Frisco lines; Edward and James, of Danville, and Bartholomew. The daughters, Mrs. M. J. Toner, of Manhattan, Nev., and Misses Mary, Nora and Ella, of Lexington.

HOLY CROSS.

Tuesday morning the marriage of Miles Edelin and Miss Eleanor Cissell, prominent and popular residents of Holy Cross, Marion county, was solemnized at Holy Cross church in the presence of a large number of their friends. Rev. Father Zoeller, pastor of Holy Cross, was the celebrant of the nuptial high mass and performed the ceremony. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edelin and is engaged in the sawmill business.

GREAT SEASON.

With the coming of the Milwaukee team tomorrow for four games in two days marks the closing of the 1913 association season, and incidentally the first real taste of baseball Louisville has had since the pennant was won in 1909, for which Owner Wathen has earned the everlasting support and gratitude of the fans in general. Louisville's defeat of the Minneapolis aggregation this past week in two out of three games pretty nearly decided the pennant race, as Milwaukee need only make a fair showing here tomorrow and Monday to clinch the flag. Manager Hayden should use every endeavor to secure the victories in justice to the Millers, who faced the cream of Louisville's pitching staff. Next Tuesday the Pittsburgh Pirates, headed by Fred Clarke, Honus Wagner and other local favorites, will play here, the receipts to be given to the local players as a benefit game, and the fans should turn out in great numbers.

CAPITAL RACING.

Ideal weather and exciting sport, large fields and close finishes have characterized the fall race meeting of the Douglas Park Jockey Club and have served to bring out large gatherings every day. On the whole the crowds have enjoyed this meeting as never before. Today's card is an excellent one, each race presenting a field well filled and well balanced. The feature, of course, will be the Beechmont Stakes, for which the cracks of the country are entered. For next week there is an excellent programme for every day, with the big event of the meetings, the Louisville Cup race, to be run on the last day, October 4. Manager Hachmeister has scored the greatest success in the history of Douglas Park.

WALNUT THEATER.

The Walnut-street Theater, which has been enjoying a successful season under the direction of Manager Hilton, announces a change that will please its patrons and greatly add to its popularity. Manager Hilton will from now on present daily a high class vaudeville bill in addition to the feature photo plays. There will be no change in the price of admission, which will remain at ten cents. The Walnut Theater shows are all clean and high class.

GAYETY THEATER.

For next week the Gayety Theater announces the sensational drama, "The Cost of Living," William Anthony McGuire's latest production, which has never been seen in Louisville. This play presents exciting and astounding present day situations and is full of interest. The cast is said to be an exceptionally strong one. There will be matinees Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

VISITING EASTERN FRIENDS.

The Rev. John J. Fitzgerald, pastor of St. Leo's church, Highland Park, left the first of the week for a visit to friends and relatives in New York and the East. Father Fitzgerald has been an indefatigable and successful worker in this diocese for years, and his parishioners are glad that he is taking a needed and well earned rest. During his absence the Pastoralist fathers from the Sacred Heart Retreat are ministering to the wants of the congregation. Father Fitzgerald will return in about two weeks.

ALTAR SOCIETY PARTY.

A pleasant event for the benefit of St. Cecilia's church will be the afternoon and evening euchar and lotto party to be given by the Ladies' Altar Society in St. Cecilia Hall on Tuesday, October 14. The ladies of the parish are preparing for a big affair and will award many handsome prizes. They invite all their friends to be with them and assure them an enjoyable time.

HAPPILY WEDDED.

The marriage of Miss Clara Schwierman and Jacob Link was solemnized with a nuptial mass Tuesday morning at St. Leo's church, Highland Park. The bride is the attractive and popular daughter of John Schwierman, residing on the Ash Bottom road, and the groom is a prosperous young farmer of that section. An evening reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, when the happy couple were showered with congratulations.

EUCHE and LOTTO.

The Altar Society of St. Leo's church, Highland Park, will entertain with a euchar and lotto party at Trinity Council Hall, Baxter and Morton avenue, on Thursday afternoon and evening, October 9. Nothing will be left undone that would add to the pleasure of the occasion and a large attendance is looked for. Games will be called at 2:30 and 8 o'clock and many unique and handsome prizes will be distributed.

The death took place at the parochial house, Brookeborough, of Rev. Patrick McKenna. Deceased was a native of Errigal Truagh, and was educated at St. Macarten's Seminary, Monaghan, and later at Maynooth College, where he had a distinguished course.

The success of the Hibernian church parade in Monaghan on Sunday under the auspices of the local division exceeded the anticipations of the most sanguine. It can safely be said that it was the largest muster of Hibernian forces ever witnessed in the county.

An old man named John Driscoll, residing at Dunour, near Bantry, was recently sought to be evicted for the fourth time within a few years for non-payment of rent. He had been prosecuted several times for retaining forcible possession. The Sheriff party and the police now found him ill in bed, and the doctor certified that he could not be removed.
